Artemisia

Nineteen Forty-Five

THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS
UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA
Reno, Nevada

BETTE POE Editor
MARY WATTS Manager

Dedication

To you, our former friends and classmates of U. of N. So Gay, who are now serving our country during this time of stress, we proudly dedicate the 1945 edition of the Artemisia. You are serving nobly in many fields—in the army, the navy, the marines, the air corps, the coast guard, the maritime services. You are men and women who have dedicated your lives if need be to the task before you in order that the ideals in which we have learned to believe may continue and that we may again live with peace and security in our world.

Dr. Moseley taking the oath of office as new President of the University of Nevada.

The academic procession at the Inauguration of Dr. Moseley.

Inauguration

Dr. John Ohleyer Moseley was inaugurated as the seventh president of University of Nevada, October 12. . . . Representatives from sixty-two colleges and universities and eleven academic organizations presented their greetings to the president. . . . After the exercises, the inaugural luncheon was held in the new gym with approximately 800 people present. At this time the presentation of distinguished delegates took place. . . . The features of the luncheon included addresses by E. P. Carville, Governor of Nevada; Silas E. Ross, chairman of the alumni association, and Leonore Hill, president of A.S.U.N. . . . The students had the opportunity of meeting President Moseley and his family at the special reception held at the President's home October 9.

Foreword

Even with war, life must go on and changes in the activities about us are merely altered to fit the situation. And so it has been with college life since that December day three years ago when we entered the present world conflict. We have gone through the phases of a practically manless campus, to the training of military men at Nevada, and now this past year has found many war veterans returning to pursue their college careers. And, as our University life goes on toward our victory goal, we present the forty-second volume of the Artemisia.

C o n t e n t s

The size of our student body was increased somewhat over last year, but it was decidedly under that of normal times, so we were forced to keep the 1945 Artemisia the size we had adopted during the present emergency, with only a few additions. . . . Material shortages really hit us, when it came to ordering paper, covers, etc. However, we refused to let this discourage us—we went ahead, and in spite of limitations it is our hope that each of you will find this volume a typical representation of "Nevada's Year."

In Memoriam

Administration

President John Ohleyer Moseley

President and Mrs. Moseley at the reception held in their honor.

President

Since the dawn of civilization, man has striven to restore the things of the spirit and by material means make them everlasting. Thus, he has recorded on stone and brass and with pen and brush his joys and sorrows and hopes and fears that all may share with him. . . . In this spirit of sharing, we at Nevada express by picture and printed word the happy experiences of each fleeting college year and bind them together in an Artemisia of golden memories. By the students of 1944-45 these memories will be treasured as priceless reminders of the one period in their lives through which they will ever be willing to retrace their steps. Alumni will, in the pages of this volume, re-live their own college lives and vicariously participate in the triumphs and thrills of many another dear to them. All of us, in future years, will refer to this Artemisia to refresh our minds with the portentous events of a year of the University at war. . . . With the realization that the contents of this volume will continually strike the more tender strings of memory, I am happy to have the privilege of sending greetings to all students, past and present. May the future years bring to you the full realization of the aspirations of your college days and reward with an abundant harvest each sound thought and habit acquired at Nevada. All of us—faculty, students, and alumni—express to the editors, business managers and advisers, our sincere thanks for producing the beautiful and carefully prepared 1945 Artemisia, in its excellence so representative of the University which we love and serve.

JOHN O. MOSELEY, President.

CHARLES H. GORMAN, Vice-Pres., Comptroller.

ALICE TERRY, Secretary to the President.

Regents

Members of the board of regents have had a busy year, not only planning for the present at our institution, but with an eye to the postwar activities which are to make Nevada "tops in education." During the state legislature sessions many meetings were held in connection with the building program and administration activities. Regents also found themselves busy with granting leaves of absence replacing resignations among the faculty and staff members. On the board of regents are Silas E. Ross, chairman, Mrs. C. W. Henningsen, Chris H. Sheerin, Paul J. Sirkegian and Leo A. McNamee.

Registration

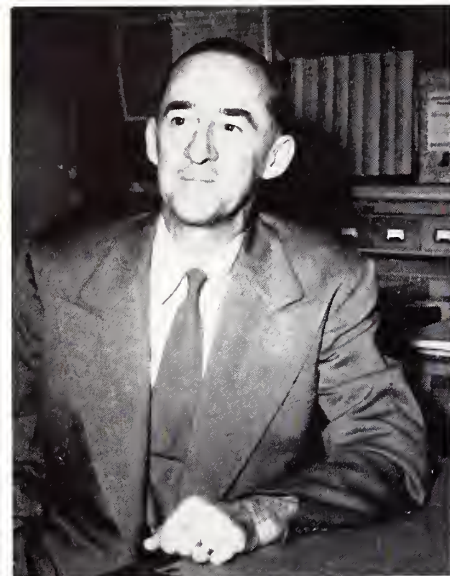

Students register in the new gym for the first time.

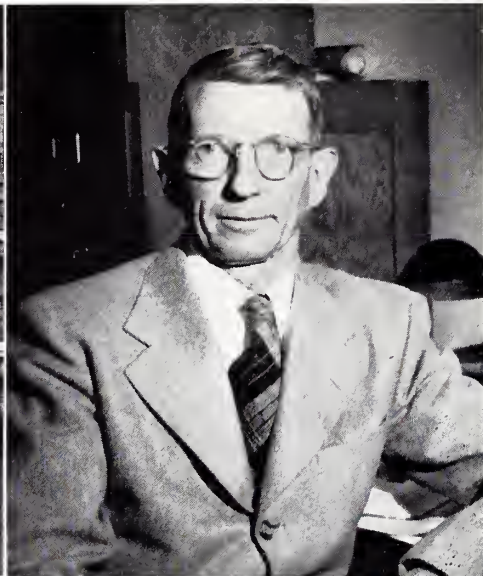

Enrollment for the past two semesters showed an increase over that of the previous year with interest again turning to education and college life. During the fall semester, there were 492 students registered, with a ratio of 339 women to 153 men. Total enrollment decreased for the second semester of this year with 347 coeds and 129 men students, adding up to 476. Enrollment increased in all three colleges, although it was far below the normal average of peacetime. As usual, the greatest number of students was registered in the freshman class.

Professors

Essential to all colleges, no matter how large or small, are the members of the faculty, who are faced with the task of implanting knowledge in the brains of Betty Coed and Joe College. Students at the University of Nevada are indeed fortunate to have a large and capable staff of professors in its colleges of arts and science, engineering and agriculture. Men and women who are highly thought of in their various fields of endeavor are numbered among Nevada's faculty. Since the advent of the war, many of the professors have been granted leaves of absence, either for military service or employment in vital and essential war industries, to help speed the day of peace. On the campus, the staff is faced with new problems as a result of war-time restrictions, but Nevada is a "battle-born" state and problems here have been coped with as capably as anywhere else in the United States.

LEONORE HILL, President.

A. S. U. N.

For another wartime year, affairs on the Nevada campus have been directed by a coed. This year's leader was Leonore Hill. During the year, nine student body assemblies were held. At the first one during the fall semester, scholarship awards were made to Gamma Phi Beta sorority for the highest average and to Zeta Phi Zeta for improvement. President Moseley addressed the students concerning the benefits derived from a liberal education. A pep assembly and one in honor of Homecoming were also held during that semester. This spring the first student body meeting was also one at which scholarship awards were made. The highest average honors went at this time to Delta Delta Delta, while Gamma Phi Beta was awarded the improvement plaque. Letters for athletics were presented to deserving members of the football team.

Students show a good turnout at first basketball game in new gymnasium.

As a special project for the past year, members of the Associated Women Students decided to sponsor a plaque to be presented to the University. The plaque is to contain the names of all former women students who now are in military service, and will take the place of a memorial flag. During October coeds sponsored a tea honoring Nevada educators who were on the campus as representatives to a conference of state educators. Dorothy Abel has served as president of A.W.S.

DOROTHY ABEL, President.

GEORGE SOUTHWORTH, President of the University of Nevada Alumni.

Under leadership of George Southworth, Jr., a successful year of activities was carried on by the Nevada Alumni Association. Last fall the alumni group issued the second publication of "Wolf Tracks," which is an alumni newsletter featuring information about Nevada servicemen and women. Dr. R. S. Griffin, assistant in administration and alumni secretary, edited the publication, assisted by Mrs. Ottie Robinson, custodian of war records, Alice Terry and Mrs. Phyllis Larson. Serving as graduate manager for the past year has been Prof. Leonard Chadwick, who has capably handled the multitude of responsibilities of that office.

Senate

Student senators have had a busy year trying to keep wartime activities at Nevada on an even keel. Among other things, the senate voted to replace four formerly inactive organizations on the active list and recognized three new organizations. Reinstated were the Sagers, U. of N. band, Block N and the Electrical Engineers. Blue Peppers and Saddle and Spurs were recognized while the Women's War Council was reorganized to include both men and women and was renamed the Nevada War Council.

Publication and Finance Control

Budgets, assets, liabilities, where to spend what and how was again capably handled this year by members of the finance control board of which Dr. Charles R. Hicks is the chairman. Other members of the council were Dr. Meryl W. Deming from the faculty and Lavina Ramelli and Dorman Patten, student representatives. Overseeing the work of campus publications is its board, which is also headed by Dr. Hicks. Other members include the heads of the Artemisia and Sagebrush staffs, who were for the past year Bette Poe, Betty Mollignoni, Mary Watts and Marilyn Dugan. Student representatives to the publication board were Kathleen Norris, Italo Gavazzi and Rose Marie Mayhew.

Finance Control Board members: Deming, Leonard E. Chadwick, Leonore Hill, Lavina Ramelli, Chairman Hicks.

Publication Board members: Italo Gavazzi, Thelma Charlton West, Marilyn Dugan, Betty Mollignoni, Chairman Hicks, Leonard E. Chadwick, Rose Marie Mayhew, Mary Watts, Bette Poe, Leonore Hill.

Upperclass Committee

Enforcing University of Nevada traditions were Betty Mollignoni and John Jensen, heads of the women's and men's upperclass committees, respectively. Offenders' names were placed on the bulletin board and miscreants were ordered to appear before the committees for proper punishment of their crimes. A policy was adopted whereby chronic offenders would be referred to the senate and their student body privileges revoked.

Activities

Homecoming

We tried to forget how many old grads and students were missing, and launched our twenty-fifth annual Homecoming October 27 and 28. Gloria Mapes, soph chairman, with the capable aid of the Homecoming committee, decided to save as much as possible on tires and gas and waived the usual serpentine parade through town. Instead we hiked ourselves up to the Bonfire Rally at Mackay Stadium Friday night and cheered guest speakers Alum President Roeder, George Southworth, Vice President Gorman, Lee Hill, Coach Jim Aiken, Buster McClure, team captain, and Ike Armstrong, Utah coach. We then proceeded to the State Building to see the Skit Parade, which replaced the Wolves' Frolic. A.T.O. and Gamma Phi, first-prize winners, convulsed us with their "Hold Me Girdles" skit and "Comedy of Errors" respectively. Saturday afternoon the alums were welcomed at sorority luncheons and dessert hours—a little campus hospitality to compete with the Friday evening Association dinner at the Cedars. We waved our pom-poms madly and shrieked from kick-off to the gun at the game in the afternoon, which saw Utah squeeze out a final 19-14 victory over the Wolf Pack.

Tri-Delt pledge Ginny Cole presided over the Homecoming dance Saturday night at the Twentieth Century Club, and a new tradition was born—the election of a Homecoming Sweetheart by the men students from the Freshman class.

Although the student body is not as large as in the past, the enthusiasm shown at the Homecoming celebration made up in spirit what the University lacks in numbers.

Katie, Bette, Dr. Moseley, Boo and Marie display their talents at the Pan Hellenic Bean Feed.

Coeds who attended the Pan-Hellenic bean feed wore jeans, ate beans, and bought a total of $2310.90 in bonds and stamps. Betty Molignoni acted as mistress of ceremonies, and auctioned off such articles as kleenex, cigarettes, and candy, which were donations from downtown stores. . . . People in the audience purchased bonds to see certain individuals perform for the group.

Included in this entertainment was a jitterbug routine by Mrs. Moseley and a kick chorus dance by Dr. Moseley and four members of the student body. At the end of the evening Pan-Hellenic members introduced the song "How Many Bonds Are You Buying" and everyone went home with bonds, stamps, and scarce items which were auctioned off.

during the drive to buy a Hellcat. The Minute Man drive, where 90 per cent of the campus must buy stamps or bonds to fly the Minute Man flag is also under the sponsorship of this group. The courtesy clinic, in cooperation with the Home Ec Club, presented a fashion show to the campus. The clinic is responsible for many programs helpful for a more gracious living. The speaker's bureau has presented round-table discussions on timely subjects. The entertainment bureau has arranged for University women to travel to nearby towns to service men's dances. considerable credit is due the bureau heads for their fine work.

Climaxing the two-day celebration was the dance in the State Building where Queen Beulah Haddow awarded the various trophies—Pi Beta Phi for the best sorority song team and Lambda Chi Alpha for the best fraternity song team. Jane Creel, Theta, acted as toastmistress for the luncheon held in the new gymnasium and townspeople heard a broadcast over KOH of the speech by Thomas P. Brown, as well as the song-team contest. The beard check and benediction were held Saturday morning, while Friday began with an assembly and open house at the sororities.

For clever skits, there is no debate,
The Gamma Phis really rate.

President Kathleen Norris, the gal with a voice,
Has gone mad, "I tell you mad," by choice.

Leonore Hill, prexy of A.S.U.N.,
Admits writing is her favorite yen.

Education is Jackie Thompson's line,
But a certain captain is doing fine.

Doris Knight, another card,
Complains of studying much too hard.

Madge Elder, a real theatrical star,
Keeps her wit right up to par.

A smoothie upon whom we'll wager,
Is Brownlie Wylie, an econ major.

Mary Beth Winchester had changed her name,
But to you, Mrs. Bornet is the same.

The Navy has some appeal,
Just ask Miss Harriet McNeil.

Although subtle, it isn't a rumor,
That Melba McFarland has a sense of humor.

Genevieve Johns' unruffled poise
Seldom creates a tremendous noise.

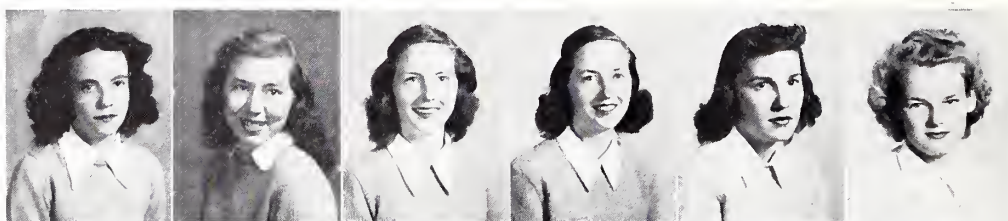

Go away, girls, you bother me.

That every member can play football.

So, if the athletes give you a thrill,
Then check these cuties on the Hill.

Buster "I'm a football player" McClure
Has been snatched away by Crummer's allure.

Two to one it's our own little Gus,
Who has the most personality plus.

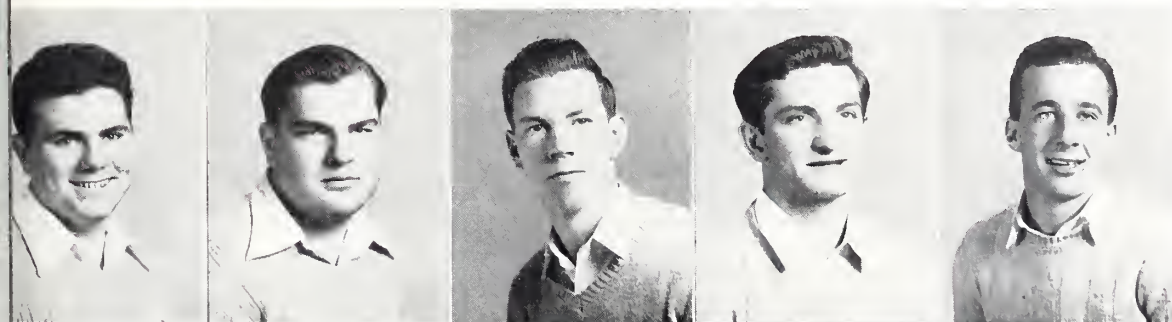

Another who played in the football series
Was the boy with the eyes, Bill Mackrides.

Another frat, no longer gone,
Is Sigma Alpha Epsilon.
The wavy-haired boys of S. A. E.
Are back again, as you can see.

With Dorman Patten as leader supreme,
These fellows have gotten on the beam.

Handsome Roy Beardall, another Sinatra,
Makes women swoon, believe it or notra.

Clayton Hurst, a smooth social slicker,
Makes Betty's heart beat quicker.

Gordon Shelly, the only brain,
Seldom takes time to raise some cain.

Lorne Black, one of the cheer-leading four,
Has joined the army to win the war.

"Violets" is still going strong,
Minerva's sons just love that song.

JACK DIERINGER, President.

Sigma Nu

The big brothers of the White Star
Have kept their frat ahead by far.
In fact, the men of Sigma Nu
Are among the campus' chosen few.
They are strong for lots of dances,
Not to mention the numerous romances.

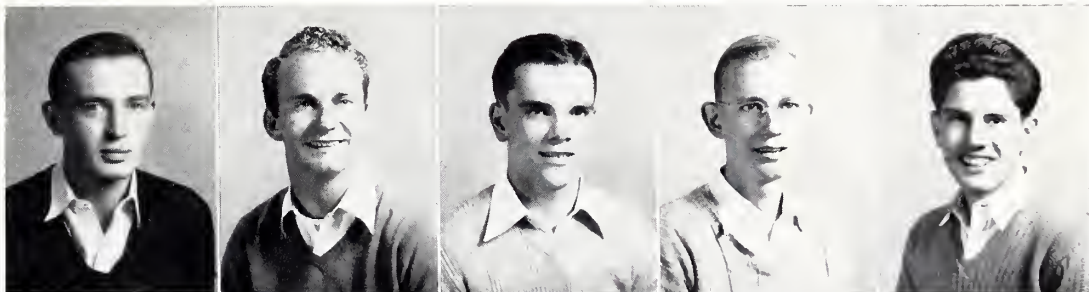

Jim Coleman had his heart melt
By little Evelyn, a cutie Tri Delt.

Jack Dieringer, prexy of Sigma Nu,
Seems to go for Tri Deltas, too.

With 61 men on their service flag.

President Bill Fryer, upon confession,
Is a rancher by profession.

Independents

Members of the Organized Independents, who are known on the campus as the "Barbs," had a busy year for themselves. The group is composed of students not affiliated with a sorority or fraternity. Besides regular meetings and social activities, the group has sponsored several "juke-box" dances. President of the organization is Italo Gavazzi, while Dr. Vincent P. Gianella is the faculty adviser.

ITALO GAVAZZI, President

Glee Club

One of the finest singing groups in the history of the institution was found during the past year in the University Singers, which was composed of a group of thirty coeds. The organization is directed by Prof. Theodore H. Post, with officers for the past year being: Barbara Heany, president; Florence Sharkarian, secretary-treasurer; Gloria Rosaschi, librarian. During the first semester the group sang for the Twentieth Century Club, the state farm bureau, and a Christmas vesper concert in the Education building auditorium. Majored project during the past semester was assisting in the production of "Elijah," which was sponsored by the Reno Civic Chorus and Orchestra.

BARBARA HEANY, President.

KATHERINE O'LEARY, President.

Composed of senior women who are in the upper tenth of their class and excel in scholarship and leadership are the members of Cap and Scroll. With Katherine O'Leary as president of the organization whose activities are secret, other members of the group are Nancy Herz, Nadine Gibson, Leonore Hill, Jane Creel and Barbara Heany. In the way of social activities, members of the highest women's honorary organization on campus held monthly dinners at the Trocadero.

Under the leadership of Annette Suverkrup and Harriet McNeil, Chi Delta Phi, national honorary society for women, continued their wartime activities and remained one of the active groups on the campus. They held social meetings at which poetry, drama, short stories and novels were discussed. The annual initiation ceremonies were held January 28 at which members were initiated, all of whom were English majors or minors receiving above average grades in the courses taken. The other officers were: Nadine Gibson, vice-president; Georgianna Hicks, secretary-treasurer, and Kathleen Norris, editor.

Coffin and Keys

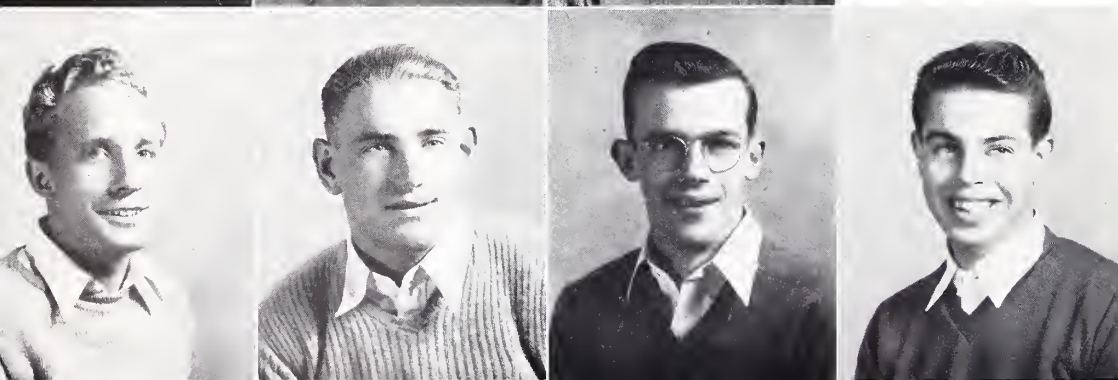

Most mysterious of campus groups is Coffin and Keys, one of Nevada's top honor societies. Membership in this secret, exclusive organization is limited to those upperclassmen who are outstanding on the campus in ability, leadership and activities. With Jack Good at the head, Coffin and Keys is again on its way to being an influential body on the campus as in former years, in spite of its limited membership. Other officers for the organization are Gilbert Sutton, secretary, and Gordon Mills, treasurer.

During the year, ten new members were elected, and included Arlene Merialdo, Lucille Shea, Patricia Thomas, Carmelina Bergeret Grundel, Italo Gavazzi, Dr. P. G. Auchampaugh, Dr. Frank Richardson, Dr. Christian Melz, Dr. Albert G. Wiederhold and Dr. John O. Moseley. Dean George L. Sagens

Members of Sagens issued the Blue Key directories, sponsored the annual get-together dance, sold pom-poms at the football games and furthered the sale of war bonds and stamps. An amendment was made whereby the five members usually chosen from the Organized Independents could include any unaffiliated coeds. Officers of the group were Leonore Hill, president; Bette Poe, vice-president, and Nadine Gibson, secretary-treasurer.

Sagers

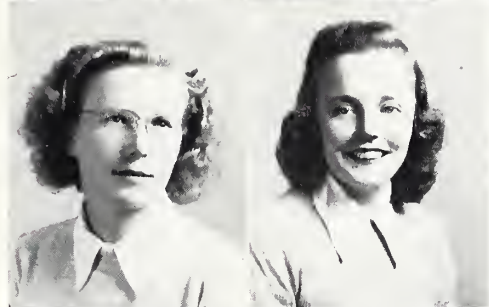

Declared inactive in 1943 because of the war, the Sagers were revived this year and, under President Gordon Mills, brought many good pre-war activities back with them. They sponsored "Stag Night" netting $147.50 in war bonds and stamps, got the campus out in jeans and plaid shirts for their barn dance, and were hosts at several campus socials. Called a "service organization" in the catalogue, Sagers is that and more besides, and we were happy to see them back.

Alpha Epsilon Delta

Composed of students enrolled for a pre-medical course at Nevada, is Alpha Epsilon Delta, honorary medical society. Officers of the organization for the past year were Dean Dukes, president; Thelma Charlton West, vice-president; Marilyn Bradley, secretary, and Lorraine Serpentino, treasurer. Appearing before the group as a guest speaker was Dr. Lawrence Parsons, Washoe County autopsy surgeon and pathologist of St. Mary's hospital staff in Reno.

Math Club

Among the clubs which were revived on the campus this past year was the Mathematics Club, of which Prof. Maurice Beesley is the faculty adviser. At the reorganizational meeting, Mary Watts was elected president of the group, while other officers named were Katherine O'Leary, vice-president, and Margie McQuerry, secretary-treasurer. During the year the club was honored by having Prof. Grafton speak on "Mathematics in Army Engineering." Other mathematical discussions were given by Dr. Beesley, Charlotte Ferris and Katherine O'Leary. At Christmas, Dean Wood entertained with a party at his home.

Chemistry Club

The Chemistry Club, consisting of chemistry majors, was guided by Gordon Mills, junior Theta Chi. Under his presidency, programs were presented at which well-known chemists as well as other scientists spoke on recent developments in chemistry and allied fields. Students fulfilling membership requirements for Sigma Sigma Kappa, local chemistry honorary, also spoke. Elected to the presidency for next year was Jane McCuiston, junior Kappa Alpha Theta, who served as vice-president.

Home Economics Club

One of the outstanding groups on campus during the past year has been the Home Economics Club of which Jane Creel is the president and Miss Mildred Swift the faculty adviser. To start out the year, the group sponsored a series of demonstration laboratories for Renoites, followed by a six weeks' good grooming course. In November, in conjunction with the war board courtesy clinic, the club sponsored a fashion show. At Christmas time the annual tea was held, with approximately one hundred guests in attendance. During the spring semester a "candy cook" was held for the camp and hospital committee show at the Reno army air base.

Fine Arts

A series of art exhibitions have been sponsored on the campus during the past two semesters by members of the Fine Arts Club of which Barbara Heany was senior director. Other officers were: Isabel Blythe, junior director; Frances Cook, secretary; Florene Miller, treasurer; Virginia Olesen, publicity chairman, and Arlene Merialdo, social chairman. The first exhibit was one of floral paintings by Mrs. Zella Key Pier-sall, followed by a student display of water colors, spray patterns and novelty work. Other projects of the organization included its annual tea, an art display from the collection of Charles Cutts and a talk on "Early American Glassware" by Dr. Effie M. Mack.

BARBARA HEANY, President.

PATRICIA COOKE, President.

Under the capable leadership of Patricia Cooke, the Y.W.C.A. has achieved a prominent position on the campus. The objective of this group was to organize for a greater membership. The registration tea and recognition service doubled the enrollment. A room to be used for meetings and recreation was furnished in Artemisia Hall. An advisory board and general secretary have been appointed to aid the campus group.

Artemisia

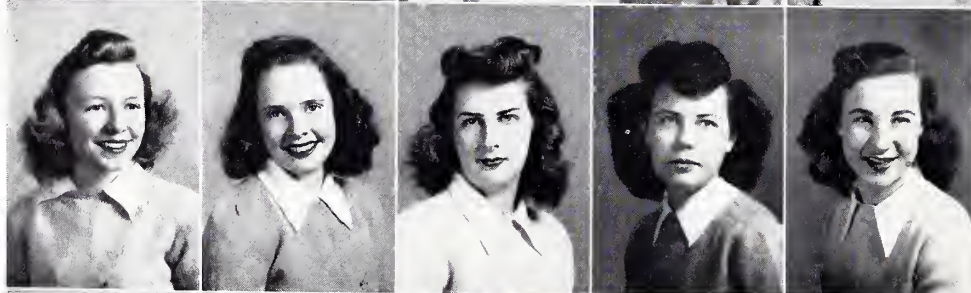

The task of publishing the 1945 Artemisia has not been a simple one—but, because we consider the yearbook a tradition which must be kept alive, even in wartime, we worked doubly hard to produce this record of activities of the years. Special "thanks" go to Viola Sorensen, Alice Etchart, Phyllis Green, Virginia Olesen, Beulah Haddow, Margaret Moseley, Frances Cook, Charles Blenio, Barbara Olesen, Jacquie Prescott, Florene Miller, Lucille Brown and Jo-Ann Miller for their cooperation and their willingness to help out no matter what time of day or night their aid was demanded.

Headed by Lt. Col. E. Lewis Field, the Military Department teaches military science and tactics to all men students who have had no previous training. Colonel Field last year replaced Lt. Hugh O. McMillan as combat instructor, and later took over as P.M. S.T. when Major John Howard departed to a new station. In addition to his teaching duties, he is Personal Affairs Officer for the entire state. Department assistant is Sgt. Michael J. McCormack. Military students, besides receiving instruction in military science and tactics, participated in the inauguration ceremony of President John O. Moseley and acted as marshals for the Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises.

The first year of advanced students who returned to the campus under the Army Specialized Training Unit were sent to Officers' Candidate School at Fort Benning, Georgia, where all except one received their commissions. In two of the three graduating classes, Nevada boys ranked highest. Fifty-one per cent of the former students of the University have been commissioned during the war. On the walls of the department headquarters are overseas insignia which alumni and former students have sent back. Insignia of those killed in action occupies the highest row. Their record in the present conflict is a fitting tribute to the students and faculty of the Military Department.

Athletics

HARRY FROST, Chairman.

The athletic board, composed of an alumni chairman, two students, two faculty members, and the graduate manager, instigated a successful football schedule by bringing in such outstanding teams as the Alameda Coast Guard, Utah State, University of Utah, and the Fleet City Bluejackets. Alaska Air Transport Command Clippers flew the Wolf Pack to Edmonton, Canada, for a command performance. Score, 12 to 0 in favor of Nevada. After months of waiting, the new gymnasium finally was completed by the end of basketball season, and the first game proved victorious for the Wolf Pack.

Football

Starting from scratch with only five veterans as a nucleus, Coach James Aiken celebrated his sixth year as Wolf Pack grid mentor by whipping into shape one of the best teams to play on Mackay Field in several seasons. Under Coach Aiken's direction, an all-civilian squad performed favorably with the more experienced aggregations encountered. Alfred Sorensen, returning letterman, played a consistent game as quarterback. Alf received all-coast honors with the United Press syndicate.

This clash indicated Nevada's strong points for the coming season—Mackrides clicking in ten out of thirteen passes, McClure and Corrigan filling in tackle berths, and Heinz, Marmor and Nocciolo galloping into Indian territory for needed gains. . . . Stag Night

A successful program of boxing was sponsored by the Sagers to help swell the campus war-bond drive. Nine bouts were presented featuring members of the Reno Town Team and University men in an exciting night of fisticuffs. Jack Swobe of the Reno Town was judged the best boxer of the evening. Gothic N, highest women's honorary, was composed of six members, elected by bids proffered at the Mackay Day luncheon. Ten activity points, leadership in W.A.A., and good sportsmanship are requirements for membership in this group. The women's equivalent of the Block N, this activity continued its function as adviser for W.A.A. High sportsmanship, good leadership and high scholarship in its members are Gothic N goals.

Who's Who

Eleven university students were selected to join the ranks of "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities." These students are chosen by an anonymous committee which is headed by a member of the faculty. Scholarship, campus leadership, types of activities of which the students are members, and the extent of their activities are the basis on which they are chosen. Campus members now wearing the Who's Who key are: Marie Aldrich, Mary Beth Bornet, Jane Creel, Nadine Gibson, Leonore Hill, Jack Good, Beulah Haddow, Betty Mognioni, Katherine O'Leary, Bette Poe and Kathleen Norris. The above mentioned will also receive a copy of the yearly publication of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

KATHLEEN NORRIS, Gamma Phi Beta.

JANE CREEL, Kappa Alpha Theta.

KATHERINE O'LEARY, Kappa Alpha Theta.

MARY BETH BORNET, Senior Class Manager.

Upperclass Officers

Directing the affairs of the two upper classes for the past year have been two coeds, who have had the responsibility of formulating plans to carry on campus activities. The two coeds who were elected to these offices were Mary Beth Winchester Bornet of Gamma Phi Beta, who served as senior class manager, and Genevieve Siri of Delta Delta Delta, who was the junior class manager. The two classes worked in close cooperation with one another during the year for the benefit of the entire student body and were willingly and ably assisted by all members of their classes. Outstanding joint activity of the seniors and juniors was the St. Patrick's Day assembly which depicted "Duffy's Tavern" and which displayed the talents of various class members. As in the past during the annual senior week activities, the juniors came to the fore to do their traditional share and see that the departing seniors graduated "in style."

Italo O'Gavazzi is the good old Irish bartender for the St. Patrick's Day assembly.

Gen Siri found time from heading the Homecoming Skit Parade committee and other duties to skipper the Junior Class through an eventful '44 and '45. With the Seniors, they took over the Ed auditorium one morning and gave us a very admirable take-off on Duffy's Tavern celebrating St. Patrick's Day. The noticeable lack of Juniors one fine spring day brought us to a startling revelation—cut day, which calls for a riotous picnic at an undisclosed spot!

We missed them, but agreed with their theory—by all means, keep up the old traditions! . . . One jump away from being "big shots" themselves, they entertained the Seniors at the annual Senior Ball, one of the most successful social events of the campus year. . . . like the other classes depleted in membership, the Juniors made a name for themselves this year, and we expect big things from them during the next.

Traditionally the "finger in the pie" class, this year's sophomores lived up to the adage. Their class manager, Tri-Delt Gloria Mapes, besides her other activities, did a neat and complete job as chairman of Nevada's Homecoming in October. . . . With the Freshmen, they teamed up to produce a most entertaining assembly full of talent advertising their annual dance. Said Hop, which took place at the Twentieth Century Club, was well spoken of before and after, for attendants said it was a gay and well-organized affair.

Sophomores

GLORIA MAPES, Sophomore Class Manager.

Although the pulchritude in both classes was largely feminine, the gents held up their end of activities throughout the school year. They were present on many committees, sported Mackay Day beards with the best, and in general made their presence known. With two good years behind them, Sophs look to next fall, when they will hold the long-cherished position of upper-classmen.

Rachel McNeil, Esther Golick, Betty Walker, Mary Katherine Sodja, Gloria Mapes, Phyllis Riley and Rose Nannini, members of the Soph-Frosh dance and assembly committee.

Freshmen

After becoming "orientated," as the book calls it, the class of '48 took hold and got into the swing of things. . . . Represented in Homecoming festivities with a freshman class sweetheart, they put another peg in the "goals accomplished" chart and looked around for more to do. . . . Neva Gardner, class manager, saw to it that the frosh did an efficient fifty per cent in the freshman-sophomore assembly and hop, and in other doings about campus. . . . The "N" on the mountain shines whiter and brighter due to a fall and spring day's worth of freshman exertion. They helped make the grounds sparkle for Mackay Day, and quickly fell into the spirit of the occasion. One-year veterans, the freshmen are "glad they came," to say the least, and can lend a knowing hand to next year's green crop.

Churchill is the leading agricultural county in Nevada and embraces the larger portion of the government Newlands irrigation district. Fallon turkeys and Hearts of Gold canteloupes grown in this area are favored from the Pacific coast to the Atlantic for their superior quality. More than five hundred of the seven hundred farms are provided with modern equipment such as water pressure systems, electricity and attractive homes.

Fallon, Churchill county seat, is one of the most important highway centers of Nevada. Paved roads radiate in five directions including the Lincoln highway and the Pacific Northwest-Los Angeles all-winter route. The Churchill county high school is Nevada's second largest with an imposing building and two blocks of campus. The consolidated grade school district ranks among the best in the nation. Nine church organizations are active.

Pershing County

Offers unexcelled opportunities in livestock, farming, and mining. It is crossed by two transcontinental railroads and a national highway, and is close to good markets . . . Lovelock Valley, the principal farming section, has ideal soil, raises finest-quality alfalfa and grain, and is an excellent cattle-feeding point. The Reclamation Service has completed a dam on the Humboldt River to store 179,000 acre-feet of water for irrigation, assuring future prosperity. The City of Lovelock is the county seat and is situated in the midst of the Valley. Is a fine little city with good schools, fine mountain water and nice homes . . . The gold and silver mines of Pershing County have produced many millions of wealth. The largest tungsten mine in America and the only dumortierite mine in the world are located in this county. Quicksilver, antimony, lead, pottery clays and polishing materials abound.

Elko County is the second largest in the State and third largest in the United States. It embraces an area equal to the combined states of Connecticut, Delaware, Rhode Island and New Jersey. It is one of the richest agricultural counties in the nation, having several times ranked first in the nation in the value of its products. Formerly an important mining region with such camps as Tuscarora, Cornucopia, Midas, Sprucemont, Aura, Columbia, Mountain City and Jarbidge; at the present time, Mountain City is the boom mining town of Nevada. Its mineral production is still of considerable importance. In the Ruby Mountains, the largest and most rugged mountain mass in Nevada, can be found some of the finest scenery in the state. The livestock industry in Elko County includes cattle raising, sheep raising, as well as considerable production of thoroughbred horses. Elko, the county seat, is ideally located, being situated on two transcontinental railroads and one transcontinental highway. The population is approximately ten thousand, while the City of Elko slightly exceeds four thousand.
